M. Busbee, of this city, delivered an address on Old Fellowship in Charlotte on Tuesday night, the occasion of slarge demonstration of the order in that city. A condeused report of his remarks appears in Wednesday's Charles and as they contain some Observer, and as they contain some facts in regard to the order unknown facts in regard to the order unknown to the uninitiated, we herewith append the Observer's report:

A few moments after 11, F. A. Mc-Ninch, Esq., of Mecklenburg Lodge, introduced in befitting terms Mr. C. M. Bushee. This gentleman arose, and in a speech of perhaps three-quatters of an hour's duration, entertained, by the Odd Fellows, but all others then and there assembled. He began by an allusion to the fact that began by an allusion to the fact that began by an allusion to the fact that he was anceent as a substitute for Major G., s; that the occasion was one unexpected to him, and that he had had no time for the preparation of a speech. He next spoke of the Grand Lodge of the United States, which he attended last week at Attanta, the worth, intelligence and high positions of the gentlemen who composed it, and concluded this branch of his subject by paying a glowing tribute to Atlanta, her people and their hospitality. ple and their hospitality.

From this the speaker passed to Odd Fellowship, its origin, its history, designs, etc. The origin of this order is surrounded in mystery. We know, though it had its though, it had its inception in Eng-land, and was afterwards introduced into America. In earlier days the order was in bad repute, the meetings having been degraded into occasions for merriment and carousal. In 1818 a number of Odd Fellows met at Manchester, and, withdrawing from the old order, organized under the present name, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Many unsuccessful attempts were made to introduce Odd Fellowship into the United States; and it was only in the year 1817 that, after numerous trials, the order took any foothold in America. In April of that year Past Grand Sire Wildey, with a few others, met in Balti-more and organized Washington Lodge No. 1. In 1823 the American lodges renounced their allegiance to the Manchester unity, and declared themselves an independent body. Them, as now, the basis of the order was the "Brotherhood of Man," and wherever there was want, saffering, death, there the Odd Fellow felt himself called, and was prompt to respond,

The eloquent speaker referred to told want which that disastrous con-flagration entailed. Here it was that Odd Fellowship showed its benevo-lence. In contributions to the destitute of that smitten city the Inde-pendent Order of Odd Fellows stood forth conspicuous and pre-eminent. From the order in the United States there went the sum of $120,000 to 'In Senevolence, the love, the open-handed liberality, and the high and holy precepts which move its membership, were all dwelt upon in language beautiful and tasteful, which we cannot now recall and which we could not imitate.

At present there are in the United States 6,000 lodges, with a working membership of half a million. The contributions during the last fiscal year were $4,500,000, of which $1,500,000 went to the relief of stricken brethma all over this land of ours. The future of the order is bright with promise; new lodges are spring-ing up and old ones, which during the war went down, are being reviv-ified. It is lengthening its cords to foreign countries and spreading over them. The speaker referred to the headway which it was making in Germanic Europe, and remarked up-on the singularity of the fact that, having been born in Europe and brough to America, it should have been purified and Amercanized and sent back to its birth-place, refined and brighter than it was at first.

With an exhortation to Mecklenburg Declaration Lodge, Mr. Busbee concluded his really eloquent ad-dress, amid the profound regret and hearty cheers of the audience, and gave way to Dr. Hickok, whom he introduced.

RALLIGH AS VIEWED BY AN OUT-SIDER.—The editor of the Durham Tobacco Plant, who has been on a brief visit to our city, has this to say

This city, the capital of our State, is making rapid strides in improve-ments, and North Carolina can truthfully boast of one of the busiest and most enterprising cities in the South. Until a few years back Raleigh "dragged its slow length along" and "few and far between" were the evidences of thrift and enterprise, but now go in whatever part of the city you may, on any of its streets, the sound of the hammer and trowel can he heard and you are buoyed with an entiving atmospheric influence that apparently permeates every nook and corner and stimulates all around you to renewed energy in their legitimate walks of life. On every hand elegant buildings are being reared which ought and no doubt will perpetuate the memory of their founders, such men as Briggs, Thomas and a number of others we might mention. The Yarborough House is being completed, painted and the finishing touch given, and with its genial proprietor, Dr. Blacknall, it will a prove paradise to the travelling public. The exterior of the building presents a magnificent appearance, but the cozy comforts within and the home like reception extended you, are by far superior to any of its outward appearances.

The only thing Raleigh needs now is manufacturing enterprise. And why is it her people are so loth to invest their monies in manufacturing establishments?

If they doubt its remunerativeness let them visit Durham and see; go to Alamance and witness what manufacturing is now

MAYOR'S COURT.—In the absence of Mayor Holden, Commissioner Henry M. Miller presided over the Henry M. Miller presided over the Court yesterday.

The only case before his Honor was that of J. Q. Bryant charged with resisting police officer Forest, and an assault upon W. N. Harris. The defendant was required to give bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the part term of the Superior ers, all by the same mother and father. The man was a man of truth and reliability and the above statement is without a doubt true. He was raised in Granville, which shows the soil of that county is prolific of other things than tobacco. We com-mend to some of our friends in Durham a residence in that particular locality for a few years at least.

SUPERIOR COURT FOR WAKE COUNTY.—The Superior Court for Wake county commences on Monday next, and will continue for one week. The second week of the term conflicting with the Fair, his Honor Judge Henry has issued an order adjourning the Court as above.

As usual, the criminal docket is large, but for a rarity, there is no capital cases to be tried. The civil docket will not be taken up until the Special term, which has been ordered by Gov. Brogden in January.

Judge Henry having exchanged circuits with Judge Watts, will preside over the Court. Throughout the District, at Nash, Warren, Franklin and Johnston, the bar and people speak of the administration of Judge Henry in the highest term of praise Henry in the highest term of praise, and regard him as an able and pure officer, sublaced by party influences, determined to do equal justice to all. We are glad to know that we are to have a Judge of Judge Henry's stamp to preside over our Court.

A CURIOSITY.-We have recently been shown the commission issued in 1771 to Donald McDonald, by Goy, Josiah Martin. McDonald, it will be recollected, was a chieftain of the Clan of McDonald, a brother of Allan McDonald (called McDonald of Kingsbury,) the husband of the celebrated Flora McDonald, and commanded the Tories at the battle of Moore's Creek. At that battle both he and his brother (the husband of Flora McDonald,) were taken prisoners, and being carried entirely across the State, were lodged for safe keep-ing in Halifax jail. This commission is a great curiosity and should be purchased by some historical society for preservation.

Ho-AXED.—J. Q. Bryant is not dead, and our colored pressman, Ned, can whip the negro that came to our office at the lonely hour of one o'clock yesterday morning to tell us that he was. The negro was doubtless sent by some other person, and intended as a practical joke on us. This, we regard as a matter too serious to joke upon, but nevertheless our article stated the death of Mr. Bryant only as a rumor, and at the time it was penned we had serious doubts as to the truth of it. He was in all probability dead asleep at the time, but yesterday he was on the street in personic propria, well and hearty.

BURGLARIOUS.—One night last week some thieves invaded the premises of Mr. A. S. Jones, living near Cary. After entering the dairy and stealing all his milk, they next went into the kitchen and carried off various article of clothing.

On the same night Mr. W. Baucom's kitchen was forcibly entered and a great many things taken therefrom Mr. Baucom is a near neight. s of Mr. A. S. Jones, living near

As a consequence, all the business at the capitol was suspended yesterday, and no news was obtainable from that quarter. We wish the excursionists a pleasant trip and safe return to their Christians there has been any backward movement to undo the work of reformation? There is but one true reason for this fact, and that is that the reformation in the Church of Enland was never perfected, was never completed. It was a work nobly begun by men who belonged to a noble army of martyrs, but was never finished, and at the end of three hundred years it stands to-night like some great building which has been only half constructed.

JNO. R. POPHAM, a Federal officeholder in Virginia, has attacked Gov. GILBERT C. WALKER, the Democratic candidate for Congress in the declared that "the President, the Administration, members of Congress and prominent Republicans declare that his conduct is base ingratitude, and there is a price set on his head and the word that should be passed along the line should be 'off with it.' And he who plunges into the thickest of the fight may hereafter tear his sleeves and show his wounds, and say, 'these were received in WALK-ER's overthrow' and be sure of receiving the universal plaudits of Republicanism."

If anything could add to WALK-ER's popularity with the people of Virginia, these facts would. We almost wish we lived in the District that we might enjoy the privilege of voting for him. They may cry "off with his head," but a more potent voice than theirs will sustain him.

THERE is promise of a patched-up peace in Louisiana. A compromise has been agreed upon between the Chairman of the Executive Committees of the two political parties of the State by which an advisory board, is appointed, charged with the duty of supervising the registration, and is made to consist of two Republicans, two Democrats and an umpire, Dr. M. F. Bonzano, selected by these four. Dr. Bonzano is represented as a gentleman of high character, and will do equal and exact justice betreen the parties it is thought. Gov. KEL OGG, represented by his friends, is said , be willing to abide by the terms of compromise, and we have some hope that the elections in Louisiana the East will be peaceful-can authorities, the gentlemen of the Conservative Executive Committee pledge their influence to secure a perfect freedom from violence or intimidation at the polls during the election. All acts of personal violence are to be discountenanced, and all improper influences to control the election withdrawn.

The returning board, the matter of difference heretofore, is changed in its personnel by the resignation of two Republican members, whose places are to be supplied by persons recommended by the Conservative Executive Committee.

These concessions are slight enough certainly, for the matter of the returning board has always been the cause of difference between the parties; but we hope that good results may be obtained even upon these terms. The presence of the two Conservatives will, at least, secure an honest count; and even Kellogg, with all his impudence, would scarcely attempt a second theft of the offices of the State, when the attempt could be so readily exposed by the evidence of the Conservative members of the Board. After all, possibly this may be the shortest and safest way out of the difficulties of the situation in the unfortunate

As we read the developments in the recent Louisiana revolution we thought we had at last found one matter of rascality in which BEN BUTLER had neither part nor parcel, book which Kellogg, in his flight, had left was made and lo! BENJA-MIN was there. He had had a finger candidate for re-election to the House of Representatives; and being such candidate, it is necessary for him to "rise to explain" his connection with the affair. He has done so; and says that KELLOGG was his personal friend and when the difficulties in Louisiana arose consulted him. At that time there was no thought, as BENJAMIN says, that the matter would come before Congress. But it did come, and strangely enough BEN-JAMIN'S speeches and votes in the House were in exact consonance with the direction his feelings had taken when Kellogg first mentioned the subject as a retainer. As the money was paid of a fee and not for the purpose of influencing BUTLER's course in Congress, he argues that it by that unfortunate check-book. The name of Senator MATT H. CAR-PENTER appears there as the receiver of fees from the head of the Louisiana usurpation. Subsequently, however, he changed front and became the leader of the opposition to the KEL-LOGG faction in the Senate. He made the report of the Senate Committee and supported it by a speech of great power and brilliancy. But MATT had sinned, it seems, and the sincerity of his opposition becomes exceedingly questionable in view of that telegram addressed to his dear KELLOGG and asking him to forward the thousand dollars.

Seriously here is a proper subject for thorough and impartial investigation by Congress; and it should be made even, if in its course, a professed friend of free government in Louisiana, in the person of Senator CARPENTER, should suffer because of it. Let the country know that fraud has been used at Washington, as well as at New Orleans, in the upholding Metropolitan District, very bitterly.

In the course of his speech, Popham

Deen the fact. Let us know what have been the means used to secure for it favor and recognition. Some potent influence has been exerted in its behalf. What was it? is a question of interest in the light of current events.

> Sneers From the Stay-at-Home. An Administration organ calls the members of the McEnery militia rebels, and reminds them of the past and its record in words that never fell from the lips of any but a coward. Let us tell him that there is nothing in that record of the past of which the participators should ever feel ashamed. We were in the Federal army, and during the Atlanta campaign have often captured South-ern soldiers in bare feet and covered with rags; with nothing but an ear of parched corn or a little meal in their haversacks, which had been their sole subsistence, and upon which they were fighting as never soldiers fought before. If the writer of that article had been there he would have learned to respect the opinions, erroneous though they may have been, of men who would peril their lives by starvation and bare their breasts bullets for the cause they loved. Again let us tell him that not only the ex-Confederate was ranged under McEnery's banner, but also the true soldier of the Federal army, who went South to assist in building up her waste places, and whose honest intentions and earnest endeavors made him friends among his new associates, while upon the other hand were arrayed the men who robbed the pockets of the dead upon the battlefield and followed the army like jackals, to plunder the fallen, both friend and foe.

The war has long since passed, and with the soldier its animosities are forgotten. The history of the Confederate army has become a part of the history of United States, and, as such, belongs to all. Let their gallantry, their sacrifices, and their heand under one flag go forward, hand in hand, in the achievement of true national greatness.-N. Y. South.

EMORY, KELLOGG AND PACK. ARD.

Trying Position of the General-Indecision of the Governor-

Soldiers Cheer for the Insurgents.

The New York Times publishes the following dispatch from Wash-General Emory has had a very difficult position, and has sustained it well. His appointment of General Brooke as commandont of New Orleans was but a mistake in form, as it was in feet, and was meant to be only commandant of the troops. General Emory was courted by the best society, the elite of the city, before the outbreak, but is now bitter-ly denounced by the same class.

Governor Kellogg is like a ship without masts, sails, or rudder—is at the mercy of the elements, with no control over them—hesitating, undecided, timid; now swayed by this influence and now by that Packard fluence and now by that. Packard is cool, fearless and determined.

The cheering of the citizens by the United States troops is accounted for in the following manner: The armed procession of 3,000 or more passed by the Custom-house with the steady military tread of a trained army. To the United States troops stationed there the column presented arms. The cheer was a return of the compliment in such manner as might be made to a hostile army. It was given by the private soldiers, and was no expression of sentiment or approval.

A Plendleton county (Kentucky) granger is ahead of the most particular of the merchants in the accuracy pecuniarily. When cur thinking had almost reached a positive contact the figure of that check says: We are informed that one of the check says: We are informed that one of the check says: our moneyed citizens, a farmer, who did the county a favor some time since by loaning it on thousand dollars at ten per cent., was called upon in the Louisiana pie too. Kellogg had retained him and paid him his retainer.

Benjamin, be it remembered, is a stronger cent., was called upon a week or two ago by the sheriff who proposed to pay off said obligation. After an exceedingly lengthy calculation by the farmer, the sheriff was surprised to see that he had calculated the interest up to the beautiful to the content of the interest up to the hour of the ACT ON THE DEFENSIVE.—Persons who are subjected to the influences of bad air and unwholsome water, to constant exposure; out of doors and sudden changes of weather, should act on the defensive by imparting to their constitutions the power of resisting such influences. The fortyfying effects upon the system of Hostettar's Stomach Bitters are simply amazing. Thousands who use them as a preventive of malaria attacks, enjoy an absolute immunity from its attacks, although dwelling in regions where that scourge is most prevalent. Artizans and laborers whose occupations keep them in the open air, find the Bitters a complete safeguard against the effects of exposure. Travelers testify that they counteract the influences of tourid heat, intense cold, and mlasmatic air. Free frem every objectionable feature, pure, undeteriarating, containing only vegetable ingredients, an agreeable stimulant, a wholesome tonic and corrective, and a sovereign protective, it is not surprising that the Bitters should be the most popular of American remedies. merican remedies. oct 1-daw7t

By the way, Butler is not the only member of Congress implicated

But there are strong probabilities that an Investment of fifty dollars made in the last Grand Gift Concert, in aid of the Public Library of Kenducky, will pay there een to somebody. Why not to one of us? And then we have only to wait till the 30th of November for the result.

One great English steamof the present day could with ease, transported every inhabitant this colony with their s, including cattle, in 1670, sevyears after the settlement behe immigrants landing at e Garden every two years now, would people the whole State of North Carolina as thickly as it was opled in 1670. Such has been the owth of western civilization, with all its wealth and appliances.

The character of the people who settled and continue to inherit the State is worthy of the student's consideration. North Carolina owes less to foreign immigration than any of her sisters. Hers is almost a homogenious people. Her population is more nearly composed of those born in her borders, descendants of her original settlers, than that of any other State in the American Union. The census of 1870 shows that her total population is 1,071,361, and of this number only 3,029 are of foreign birth! Not only relatively but absolutely less than the same class of any other State. To prove that this is not an accidental enumeration, the census shows the number of persons born of one or both foreign parents to be but 6,464; and of persons born of both foreign parents, to be 4,328-the same proportion appearing in the census of 1860 and 1850. We are emphatically ONE PEOPLE OF UNMIXED BLOOD. In the many political canvasses which I have made, from east to west, I have never, to my best recollection, visited a country, however distant, without being asked by some one about his kinsman living in my country. If the blood revenge of the old Scotch clans were practiced nowa-days, it would fare ill with the manslayer who should attempt to conceal himself from his enemy's clansmen in this State. They would spring from the earth around him in every rection, as the men of Roderic Dru about the path of James Fitz atnes. Where did these people come from? Who are they, and of what blood? These are questions always worth asking and answering, though an excess of democracy has begot an unworthy indifference to the subject of a people's ancestry. The aristo-cratic feeling is almost entirely confined to the beasts in this age of physical progress. It is thought to be important to them to have great progenitors, but not with men and women. A plain, democratic farmer will descant by the hour on the no-ble sires and dams of his horses, cattle, sheep and hogs, and even his game chickens; but if you should, in his presence, undertake to show forth the glories of his blood, he would shake his head and tell you it was aristocracy, that there was nothing in blood for people, and advise you to stand on your own merits. Most excellent advice, but founded on bad philosophy, nevertheless.

THERE IS MUCH IN THE RACE we spring from, affecting both the individual and the community. The physical and mental traits we derive from our ancestors are not more marked and important than are the prejudices, aspirations and traditions we drink from childhood. No profound observer of human nature will ever estimate the capacities or conduct of a people without first looking at their genealogical table and noting the blood which flows in their

The first comers were English from Nansemond, Virginia, and their numbers were largely, increased by Quakers and non-conformists who fled from persecution in the parent Colony, which had established the Church of England as the State religion, and passed laws unfavorable to all other forms. This unhappy spirit of intolerance was the result of the Governor Council's attempting to show their loyalty to the home government, which was then a persecuting one, and forcibly reminds us of many wicked things of recent times, done also in the name of loyalty. It helped, however, to people North Carolina rapidly, and the rich low-lands of the east received some of the best citizens of our State from that

To the south, the county of Clarendon, embracing all the region of

THE LOWER CAPE FEAR, the English again came, from Barbadoes, and laid the foundation of that grand old community which has ever been such an honor to the name of North Carolina. Whilst our beginnings in both Albemarle and Clarendon counties were thus almost exclusively English, we have received no other accession from that source of any consequence. Occasional settlers dropped in from various parts of the world, but so gradually as to become lost in the general mass and leave no particular marks upon our national features. The streams from which we were to derive our most marked characteristics were yet to come; the Scotch, the Scotch-Irish and the German. The colony of Swiss and Palatines under DeGraffentied was not recruited and made no visible impression upon our blood, or manners.

The Scotch and Scotch-Irish are entirely different, and the latter do not, as the casual reader might suppose, arise from Scotch parents on one side and Irish on the other. They are native Irish of original Scotch descent, to whose pedigree reference will be made again.

The Scotch who settled the Upper Cape Fear were principally followers and adherents of Prince Charlie, who were out in the '45 with him. After a large colony of them came to the State and settled near the present town of Fayetteville. Their descen-dants and constantly arriving countrymen soon spread over all the region watered by the Cape Fear, and have ever since constituted one of the most striking elements of our population. Their religion was Presbyterian, but unlike most of that denomination, they were generally nonarchists in politics. They brought with them and have preserved habits of thrift, industry, a love of education and most of the characteristics of the Scottish people The came direct by the way of the Cape Fear inlet or harbor. They were Highlanders. The Scotch-Irish, one of the most remarkable members of the great British family, were Scottish Presbyterians, planted by King James I. in the north of Ireland, on lands forfeited by the treason of the O'Dognerty and the Earls of Tyrconnell and Tyrone. There thew grew and flourished, preserving their blood as exclusively as if they had remained in the mother hese States show not only the country, and also their manners and religion. They called themselves Scotch in contradistinction to the natives, whilst to distinguish themselves from their Scotch kindred, they were called Scotch-Irish a name they have to this day retained. They were Lowlanders. The story of their persecutions, their adherence to principle, their massacres, their aplendid courage, their attempted emigration to New England, and return to Ireland from mid sea by stress of weather and a leek in their ship, the Eagle Wing; of their final triumph in the flight of their tyrant James, and the elevation to the throne of THE DELIVERER, WILLIAM OF ORANGE, is one of the most striking and instructive episodes in modern history. They became mighty in Irelandespecially in Ulster, and from that province poured ship loads of emi-grants into North America. They came mostly by way of Pennsylva-n'a, and finding lands east of the Alleghanys difficult to obtain, and no settlements yet made west of that chain on account of French and Indian hostility, they drifted steadily southward. Leaving many of their numbers in Virginia, they finally reached North Carolina, and spread all over that beautiful champagne country from the Dan to the Catawba. Soon after these, and by the same route, came our German settiers and located on the banks of the Yadkin and Catawba, covering all the beau-tiful rolling country between these streams, and far up the right bank of the latter in sight of the Blue Ridge. In agriculture, as a general rule, they have excelled all our people, especially in thrift, economy, and the art of preserving their lands from sterility. To this day there is less of that deso-lation which is called in the South "old field," to be seen among the ands of their descendants than amongst any other of our people, In religion they are Lutheran, and in politics Democratic, and they are as steadfast as the hills in each. A STURDIER RACE of upright men and substantial citizens is not to be found in this or any o her State. Their steady progress in wealth and education is one of their characteristics, and their enduring patience and unflinching patriotism

-tested by many severe trials-proclaim them worthy of the great sires from whom they sprang. The colo-ny of German Moravians was an exceptional case. Their settlement of a part of North Carolina was not until 1753. Two years before that date those of them living in Bethlehem, Pa., bought 100,000 acres of land from Lord Granville, President of the British Privy Council, which was located in what is now the county of Forsythe, and soon afterwards their col came forward and occupied it. Salem was built, and these pure, pious and industrious people have lived for nearly a century and a quarter, in almost Jewish seclusion from the general turmoil of the world, devoted almost evalusively to the absorbing almost exclusively to the absorbing subjects of education and religion As a communion, they have not in-creased to any considerable extent, but their descendants, members of another faith, are widely spread over Western North Caralina, and embrace many of our leading men and families. They revere the name of their illustrious founder, Count Zinzerdori, and called their land.

WACHOVIA. after the Wachau Valley in Austria of which he was Lord.

Thus it will be seen that the sources of North Carolina life were English, Scotch, Scotch-Irish and German mainly, with minor streams of Irish Swiss, and here and there a French Huguenot; and with a very small infusion indeed of foreign immigration since the original settlements, our people are almost exclusively their descendants. There has been little or no exclusive feeling among these races; they have married and intermarried until the casual observer can scarcely determine by any outward sign to what blood any owe their origin, except in a few localities where the old-land customs and prejudices were longer observed in full force. It has been but a few years since the Gospel was preached to portions of our people in both German and Gaelic. Of the race which of all these has given most color and tone to our society, and which furnishes the key to our public character-the Scotch-Irish. I shall speak more particularly in another paper. Z. B. V.

NOON DISPATCHES,

Kellogg's Address to the People-Hear Him for his Cause! WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The address of Kellogg to the people of the United States, is published. He declares that no act authorizing the issue of a bond has been passed during his administration. The only bonds issued by him were 576 and 125 of $1,000, authorized by previous acts. The first issue being made obligatory by a judgment of the Supreme Court, and the second on the advice of law officers of the State. The floating debt of the previous administrations has been reduced from $23,000,000 to $14,000,000 since January 1st, 1874. The current receipts have been within $67,000 of the current expenditures. We have largely reduced the State expenditures and confined them strictly within the limits of our revenues, and we have repealed over 88,000,000 of contingent liabilities. All this has been effected by us without aid from those who arrogantly claim to represent all the virtue and intelligence of the State, and while contending against violence within the State borders and organized villidication abroad, and while the very existence of the government was being threatened. The address gives

Costly thy Habit as thy Purse can Buy."

It will be remembered by Shakespearan readers in the play of Hamlet, the advice of Polonius to his son Laertes, who was just in the act of leaving Denmark ier a journey to France, wherein he said:

"Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy, but not expressed in fancy; rich not gaudy—for the apparel oit proclaims the man," &c., &c.

Ministers from the pulpit have said that every young man should paste in his hat the ramarks in full of Polenius. WEIKEL, the Merchant Tailor. in endorsing all that has been said on the subject, would remark that he is better prepared than ever to supply to his numerous friends and customers "habits" just as those mentioned. "Rich, but not raudy," and not so "costly" as you might suppose. His stock of His stock of

In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAT BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed. Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when.
